- Currently, the term Accessories is being used to cover kitchen accessories, wardrobe accessories, handles, lights, and stone. Since all these costs are grouped under Accessories in the software, it would be clearer to display this as: Accessories (kitchen / wardrobe accessories as proposed, handles, lights, stone).

In the Admin Portal, the admin is currently not able to view other users' projects. The expected behavior is that the admin should have visibility across all users and all projects.

Expected Functionality

The Admin Portal should allow the admin to:

View all users in the system

See all projects created by each user

Track the current status of every project (for example: draft, quotation generated, approved, in progress, completed, etc.)

Example for clarity

For instance, if there are 10 users and each user has 10 projects, the admin should be able to view and track the status of all 100 projects from the Admin Portal
Categorized under each users name.

- When a user creates a project by selecting Multi-Style Preferences, the project is still displayed as an Xpress Project after creation.

The project type is not reflecting as a Multi-Style Project

- If a project is created with Multi-Style Preferences, the system should clearly label and display it as a Multi-Style Project throughout the application (project list, details view, admin view, etc.).
